Oldtimers keep ticking over

A classic car show drew record audiences after 400 vehicles rolled in to town.

The Oldtimer Rally, held at the Leas in Folkestone on Monday saw car enthusiasts travel from as far as Folkestone to show off their vintage vehicles.

Michael Stainer, event organiser, gave a warm "thank you" to all in attendance adding the show's popularity has inspired a new car club.

He explained: "It was a great pleasure to see so many people enjoying themselves and the cars on show."

"It was a huge success. And it looks like the success has helped us attract more helpers for future years."

A converted 1960s New York fire engine called a La France, a replica Mercedes 582 and AC Cobras were among the many special cars on show for visitors.

Mr Stainer added: "If anyone would like to join the car club they just need to fill out a form on the website."
